

#WeArrSix and we thank you! [1]

Written by David Elston on 26 August, 2015 - 13:00

Our 2015 post-GE crowdfunder to refill the coffers is complete, and boy did we have a lot of support. You've collectively donated £1,436, showing that pirates never pay for anything is a myth worth smashing.

I really want to thank everyone who donated... in fact, I think I will.

Thank you Neil Bird, Cris Chesha, Simon Baldwin, Norman Witte III, Patrick Robertson, Andy Birchwood, Tom Collins, Chris Foote, Mick Sulley, Rebecca Ainsworth, Daniel Cale, Daniel Gilson, Paul Shaplin, Michael Johnsson, Philip Haworth, Thomas Horne, Trevor Johnson, Jack Allnutt, George Walkden, Liam Soutar, Adrian Farrell and a few others wishing to remain anonymous.

Oh and I dropped a few quid into the bucket too.

This money is more than just some cold hard cash thrown in our direction - it's what allows us to keep being a positive political force... and after the election results, positive politics seems needed now more than ever.

We'll need every penny we can get to push for a free culture. The Tories are back in Government and we have a hell of a war on our hands to protect our Internet and our right to privacy and expression.

Thank you all again for helping us gear up for the fight ahead.
